Attorney General Wickersham is authorized by the statement.

Willing to Meet Conference However—Predict Taft Will Use Veto.

Governor and Mrs. John F. Shafroth will arrive in Colorado Springs Sunday night to be the guests of the carnival executive committee for the entire week of the festival, according to official word, received from Denver yesterday afternoon over the telephone. Governor Shafroth is to give the official dedication address opening the big carnival Monday morning, from the grandstand erected on the east side of North Cascade avenue, just north of Bijou street. For the Governor and Mrs. Shafroth and the persons included in the Governor's party, three boxes have been reserved in the mid-

DENVER, July 27.—Frank H. Henwood, convicted of murder in the second degree for the killing of George E. Copeland while shooting at S. L. Von Phul, the St. Louis ballplayer, whom he also killed, in a hotel room here on the night of May 24 last, was today sentenced to life imprisonment. Sentence followed the denial of an application for a new trial. Immediately Attorney John T. Bottom for the defense announced that he would ask a supersedeas, and failing in this, would take an appeal to the supreme court.

This Shown by Government Taking Opposition Into Its Confidence.

With the near approach of carnival week residents of the Pike's Peak region are astir with enthusiasm preparing for the reception of the throngs of visitors expected from all parts of the United States, and the city is assuming a gala appearance that bids fair to outdo anything in the way of decorations and illuminations ever seen here. Yesterday a rush of orders for elaborate designs were received by the decorating and illuminating committees from the most prominent business men and institutions in the city, and the work of stringing the festoons of lights and putting the bunting and other decorations in place is well under way. It is hoped by the committee that not one place of business in the city will be without its share of decorations and illuminations, for the event is the greatest ever pulled off in Colorado Springs, and the chance is here for the city to make an unprecedented hit.

In a broad sense, the government's antitrust actions may be divided into two classes, those to which the Sherman law, as interpreted by the supreme court, directly applies, and those where the additional question of control of property by ownership of patents is involved. The cases now pending against the electrical trust and the proceedings against the United Shoe Machinery company present questions regarding patents.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Out of what had appeared to be a chaotic condition in the Senate, there suddenly arose today a coalition of Democrats and insurgent Republicans which bowed over the regular organization and passed a compromise bill for the revision of the woolen tariff by 48 to 32. This new force in the Senate united on a material reduction of tariff duties all down the line and flushed with victory tonight, is threatening not only to pass the so-called farmers' free list bill as it came from the House, but to put through a cotton bill as well. The insurgents want the sugar and steel schedules included in the program.

GOV. JOHN F. SHAFROTH.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—"It is unfortunate that the friends of conservation, in their efforts to bring about the development of Alaska for the benefit of the people, are continually obliged to expend their strength against the men who ought to be the protectors of the people's property. It looks to me like unnecessary duplication of work—when we must first fight the policeman before we can get a chance to step the logging."

The foregoing is a part of a statement issued today by Gifford Pinchot, president of the National Conservation association and former government chief forester, touching on President Taft's defense of his action in the Controller bay, Alaska, case, as contained in his special message to the Senate yesterday. Mr. Pinchot declares the President "leaves the root of the matter wholly untouched" in his message, denying that there could be any monopolization of the water front of Controller bay.

Seldom have the scenes that marked the closing hour of Henwood's day in court been duplicated, and never in local tribunals have the presiding judge and prosecutor been subjected to such an exhortation as that pronounced by Henwood when asked what he had to say "why sentence should not be pronounced."

There was a certain seriousness in Henwood's mien as he walked to the bench to begin his statement, but no trace of surprise at the court's denial of his motion for a new trial. His first utterance fell like a thunderbolt, and there was the semblance of a gasp of surprise from the expectant spectators, when he said:

LONDON, July 27.—The most pessimistic view regarding the acuteness of the Moroccan crisis was largely confirmed by the prime minister in the house of commons today when he read from a manuscript which had been carefully prepared, a warning to Germany that Great Britain proposed to stand for what she considered her rights and to maintain the balance of power in Europe.

Further testimony as to the gravity of the situation is given by the fact that the prime minister obviously had taken the leader of the opposition into the government's confidence and Mr. Balfour's declaration was no less firm than Mr. Asquith's.

The prime minister's statement was couched in diplomatic though not reassuring language. At the very opening he said:

"It is obvious that this Moroccan question has reached a point at which it will become increasingly difficult, embarrassing and anxious unless a solution is found."

Later he said:

"We thought it right from the beginning to make clear that, feeling of a settlement such as I have indicated we must become an active party in the discussion of the situation. That would be our right as a signatory to the treaty of Algeiras, as it might be our obligation under the terms of our agreement of 1904, with France. It might be our duty in defense of British interest directly affected by further developments."

In promising the support of the opposition to the government Mr. Asquith said:

"If there are any who supposed that we would be wiped off the map of Europe because we have our difficulties at home, it may be worth while saying that they bitterly mistake the temper of the British people and the patriotism of the opposition."

Such plain speaking on a question fraught with possibilities of a great European war has not been heard in the British parliament in years. The outcome of the situation appears to rest almost wholly on German shoulders. If, as some Germans say, Germany has reached the stage of national development where the necessities of her population demand that she branch out into foreign fields and impose conditions on France which Great Britain thinks threatens her vital interest the only result, as those best informed say, will be the threatened and long averted European conflagration.

German officials and the majority of the German newspapers profess to think that Chancellor Lloyd-George's recent speech of warning was not addressed to Germany, but a sort of general proclamation of principles. Mr. Asquith's statement leaves no doubt and was intended plainly to leave none on that point.

USE CARNIVAL COLORS. In this connection, the committee asks that the carnival colors orange and white be used consistently, and not in connection with another color. Some of the merchants have used orange, white and blue in one color scheme, with poor effect. Although the display of the national colors is encouraged, it is requested that these be used separately, with the orange and white, typical of the carnival, blended by themselves.

MIN. S. T. N. S. N.

The interest taken all over the country is shown by the fact that the large daily papers, even in New York and Chicago, have been running stories, some illustrated, on the carnival and its main features. Yesterday Leslie's Weekly wired the executive committee to forward a large number of official photographs to be taken when the carnival is in full swing. Similar wires were received Wednesday from Harper's and Collier's weeklies. The opportunity is present for Colorado Springs to secure the greatest advertisement in its history, and the business men have awakened in the fact, and are showing a commendable spirit in their efforts to make the city for one week the "Little Paris" of America in the way of beautiful decorative designs and illuminations.

LISBON, July 27.—The monarchist invasion of Portugal from the north, to be followed by a peasant rising, which has been expected daily, has not yet materialized. The provisional administration and financial interests are kept worried, not knowing the hour when the projected counter revolution will begin.

Lux d'Aimada, chief of the secret political society, known as the Caraballeros, one of the most powerful influences supporting the government, has left Lisbon for the Galician frontier to assist in the defensive measures.

Mr. Taft would make no comment on the situation. While the President in the past has denounced the present wool schedule in the Payne-Aldrich law as indefensible, there have been strong intimations from the White House within the last few weeks that he would not hesitate to use the veto on any tariff schedule passed in advance of reports from the tariff board. The assumption of power by the Democratic-insurgent combination today was the outcome of a similar coalition formed on June 21 to send the woolen bill to the finance committee with instructions to report it back July 10. The standard senators then admitted that their control of the upper house of Congress had been broken and that they would no longer hold themselves responsible. The finance committee, shifting responsibility to the floor of the Senate, reported the bill back adversely the next day. Today the regular Republican senators again showed their resentment in defeat and declared they would not serve on the conference committee. There is likelihood, therefore, that the Senate conference will be Senator LaFollette, insurgent Republican, and Senators Bailey and Simmons, Democrats.

Pinchot's Remarks. The President's defense of his course in the Controller bay affair shows how hard it is to make a good excuse for a bad mistake. It leaves the root of the whole matter wholly untouched. In spite of all explanations the fact remains that Mr. Taft in opening the lands around Controller bay without notice to the public has given the interests behind Ryan an opportunity to acquire the key to the channel of Controller bay before the public knew what was going on. The map which is a part of the President's message supported as it is by the testimony of Mr. Graves of the coast and geodetic survey, before the congressional committee now investigating this question appears to show that the mile and a half of harbor front taken up by Ryan together with the tracks which the government retains and on which it prohibits private entry does effectually control the valuable portion of the channel.

Keep in Public Hands. But whether the President is right or whether the map is right, and whether Ryan and his associates will be shown to represent it, is true and will remain true, that the lands about Controller bay should never have been let go. The public will agree with Colonel Roosevelt that these terminal lands ought to be kept in the public hands.

The so-called Ballinger-Pinchot investigation opened the eyes of the public to the extensive and successful efforts which are being made to monopolize the resources of Alaska. The facts developed by this investigation constituted a solemn warning and a call on the executive for special watchfulness in protecting public property in Alaska.

Such plain speaking on a question fraught with possibilities of a great European war has not been heard in the British parliament in years. The outcome of the situation appears to rest almost wholly on German shoulders. If, as some Germans say, Germany has reached the stage of national development where the necessities of her population demand that she branch out into foreign fields and impose conditions on France which Great Britain thinks threatens her vital interest the only result, as those best informed say, will be the threatened and long averted European conflagration.

On Elaborate Scale. That this will practically be the case is assured from the illuminating contracts outlined yesterday for several of the large financial and business institutions which are planning to have the city lighted on a scale far more elaborate than that used at the time of the Republican convention last fall, when the city received so much favorable comment. The result will be a blaze of light and color. The center of the illuminating scheme for the city will be in the block on North Nevada avenue, between Pike's Peak and (Continued on Page Three.)

M. W. A. Officials to Be Entertained at Antlers Hotel—Luncheon and Auto Ride Also Planned.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce to the number of 100 or more will attend the dinner given this evening in honor of the head officials of the Modern Woodmen of America. The dinner will be held at the Antlers hotel, beginning promptly at 7 o'clock. It will be followed by speeches in which directors of the Chamber of Commerce will extend to the head officials of the city and will express the desire for a closer relationship between local business men and the officials of the great institution which has been established by the Modern Woodmen north of Colorado Springs. Several officers of the order will respond and will tell of the plans for the sanatorium. The matter of the selection of Colorado Springs for the head camp session of the order in 1914 will also be discussed. President E. W. Giddings will preside.

Arrive at Noon. The party, consisting of 11 members, will arrive in Colorado Springs over the Rock Island at noon and will be met by E. E. Murphy, chairman of the board of directors, and others. After luncheon at the Antlers hotel, the visitors will be the guests of the Chamber of Commerce for an automobile ride in which they will be shown Colorado Springs, Colorado City, Manitou, the Garden of the Gods and Broadmoor. Their attention on this trip will be called particularly to the hotel accommodations of the three cities with a view to impressing upon them the ability of the Pike's Peak region to handle satisfactorily the thousands who will attend the head camp session, if it is held here three years hence.

Relieves Father's Fate Story. The son told the story of how the Holistaw family received the blow of the father's confession, and of his father telling him that every word of it was true.

Complete arrangements for the carnival and civic and pioneer parade next Tuesday afternoon, which is expected not only to be the greatest procession ever seen in Colorado Springs, but one of the most elaborate ever held in the entire state, were completed yesterday. The parade will start at 3 o'clock, and details down to the last point have been carefully worked out by Chairman Arthur Perkins and his aides. The arrangements are so perfect that beyond question the big event will be pulled off without the slightest hitch, and will demonstrate the value of perfect organization. The parade will be divided into three divisions, each under its particular marshal and aides, and Division No. 3 will be subdivided into four sections. In all it is anticipated that more than 6,000 members of civic bodies, pioneers and business men in general will be in the line of march, and more than 100 floats will bear decorations of the most elaborate character. The official program and march order for the parade, as outlined by the committee, follows:

SPECIAL STEEL CAR N. A. T. N. W. MAN

Mrs. James Smith of 515 West Kiowa street, stepped off a moving westbound street car at Colorado street and First street, Colorado City, last Wednesday night, and was severely injured, sustaining many bruises and concussion of the brain. Incidentally, the street car officials were put to a great deal of trouble and worry on account of the accident, which, they say, was no fault of theirs. A special car was used to run from the car barn to the scene of the accident, and Dr. W. T. Gillen waited several hours at Mrs. Smith's house, expecting to treat her.

Arrive at Noon. The party, consisting of 11 members, will arrive in Colorado Springs over the Rock Island at noon and will be met by E. E. Murphy, chairman of the board of directors, and others. After luncheon at the Antlers hotel, the visitors will be the guests of the Chamber of Commerce for an automobile ride in which they will be shown Colorado Springs, Colorado City, Manitou, the Garden of the Gods and Broadmoor. Their attention on this trip will be called particularly to the hotel accommodations of the three cities with a view to impressing upon them the ability of the Pike's Peak region to handle satisfactorily the thousands who will attend the head camp session, if it is held here three years hence.

side of Nevada avenue to Cache la Poudre street, where the parade will be dismissed.

All entries in the parade will report to their respective positions as hereinafter designated at 1 p. m., and will be inspected by the marshals at that time.

An interval of 10 yards will be carefully maintained between the entries.

The marshals and aides will report to the chief marshal at the corner of San Rafael street and Cascade avenue at 1:30 p. m. The bill of dress will be white duck coats and breeches or trousers, white duck hats, leather leggings.

The marshals and aides will see that the heads of each subdivision come into column immediately after the preceding column starts to clear its initial point.

By order of the carnival committee.

HENRY COBB NICKERSON, Chief Marshal.

W. ARTHUR PERKINS, Chairman.

Division No. 1.

The first division will form on the east side of Cascade avenue, the head of the column on the corner of Cascade avenue and San Rafael street; the rear of the division at the corner of Cascade avenue and Columbia street.

Marshals—Andrew Adams.

Aides—William Holmes, L. G. Carpenter.

Colorado Springs police.

After spending two hours or more at Mrs. Smith's home, Dr. Gillen phoned the assistant superintendent that she had not yet been brought home. He was asked to wait a while longer, and a motorcade with a special car was sent to Colorado street and First street. He found the injured woman in the healer's office, and so reported to his chief, thus ending Henry's anxiety.

The dinner in the evening will take the place of the regular monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, and in view of the importance of the occasion, it is arousing considerable interest, and will be largely attended by the members. Invitations have also been extended by the committee to all members of the three Modern Woodmen camps in this region and there will be a goodly representation from each.

Members still desiring to receive plates for the dinner this evening are requested to notify Secretary A. W. Henderson before noon.

H. H. Seldomridge, chairman of the transportation committee of the Chamber of Commerce, who yesterday received a letter of formal notification of the abandonment on August 1 of the Colorado and Southern Elizabeth line between Colorado Springs and Eastonville from Vice President A. D. Parkin, has taken the matter up with Governor Shafroth. In a letter to the Governor, Mr. Seldomridge argues that it will be a great loss to Colorado Springs to be shut off from Elbert and Eastonville. He wants to know if the railway can be compelled to continue the service. He points out in his letter that in a few years the Elbert-Eastonville district will be producing bumper crops and that trains will be needed to bring in settlers.

Governor Shafroth has instructed the attorney general to investigate the case. What action may be taken is not known. The state railroad commission meets August 7.

SENATE PASSES

SPOKANE, July 27.—A serious forest fire is reported to have been burning for 48 hours near Nason, in Idaho, defying the efforts of 34 men to subdue it. Two lumber camps are said to be threatened.

Another forest fire has been raging in Bonner county, Idaho, near Sand Point, and a tract of several hundred acres has been burned over. Late tonight, however, this fire was reported until control.

Another forest fire is raging in the Kanikau forest reserve near Priest Lake, Ida.

In Lincoln county, near Davenport, Wash., a large amount of timber has been destroyed and 50 men are now battling with the flames.

House seem to view a veto in much the same light and are inclined to boast that executive disapproval would not be to their disadvantage. They claim that future tariff revision should be scientific.

What effect the Senate coalition, as perfected today, will have upon the date of adjournment cannot be prophesied. The House Democrats are frankly anxious for the session to end. They declare the wool bill itself will not cause a serious delay in adjournment. If the Senate should take up the cotton bill and other schedules, however, there is a probability of indefinite prolongation. The insurgent senators are anxious to remain in Washington "all summer" to enact tariff legislation.

The bill which was passed by the Senate today was drawn by Senator LaFollette, and was a compromise between the Democratic House, and the original LaFollette bill, both of which were forced out of the way by decisive votes.

Some idea of the compromise may be had from the proposed rates on raw wool.

The House bill proposed a rate of 20 per cent ad valorem. The original LaFollette bill proposed 40 per cent. The compromise fixed the rate at 35 per cent. It is predicted that the conference will put it at 30.

The progressive action is to remain in session until August 1. In view of the action on wool and the contemplated action on cotton, progressive senators have urged the importance of an immediate reduction in the tariff on machinery and chemicals because of the bearing of these schedules on the manufacture of cotton and wools.

The agreement under which the wool bill was put through extends to the farmers free list bill and the passage of that measure in modified form seems assured.

The plan is either to tack the various measures on the free list bill as amendments or to take up the schedules as independent bills. The progressive Republicans are willing to proceed in either way, but they prefer the separate bill system.

The Democratic senators are neither so unanimous nor so enthusiastic as the insurgent Republicans for a continued revision. They say much will depend on the President's attitude and some of them predict early adjournment in case the President vetoes the wool bill.

Others will contend for the right of the House to originate all tariff bills and will oppose the indirect method

Police Chief Armstrong Says He Accepted Ring From Lawyers, Not From Prisoners.

"I have done nothing that will not bear the closest investigation and my record in the police department of Colorado Springs is open to examination at any time," said Chief of Police Armstrong yesterday.

"As soon as Commissioner Himebaugh returns I will ask for a public investigation of the charges against me. I have nothing to conceal, and the reports that have been circulated over the diamond ring episode are both incorrect and unjust."

"I did not accept a ring from either of the two men, Perry and Miller, who were arrested on a charge of obtaining money from Richard Krug. The ring in question is worth about $35, according to an expert jeweler, and it was not given to me by either of the two men. The diamonds found on the prisoners were signed over to Attorney Orr and Lombard by Perry and Miller. After that we were looking at them and I made the remark that I wanted to get a small diamond for my wife, if I could buy one at a bargain."

"I believe one of the prisoners spoke up and said that the small stone, worth about $35, might be given to me. At this time the diamonds had been signed over to the attorneys. I turned to Attorney Orr and said, 'How about it, Judge?' or something to that effect. He replied that it was agreeable to him and I turned to Attorney Lombard with the same remark. He also gave his consent and said, 'Why, certainly; it's all right.' I accepted the ring from the attorneys."

"I have never asked or taken anything that did not belong to me and I had no thought of doing anything wrong or anything that could be questioned."

Armstrong says he feels a great injustice has been done him. Commissioner Himebaugh is still absent from the city, and as nearly as can be learned, knows nothing of the present stir in police circles. Mayor Avery was as reticent yesterday concerning the matter as he was the day before, and declined to say anything for publication at this time.

LITTLE ROCK EPIDEMIC
GROSSLY EXAGGERATED

E. C. Newlin, a visitor to Colorado Springs from Little Rock, Ark., says that in his city there is little typhoid fever, and thus corrects the impression given by newspaper dispatches to the effect that 150 deaths resulted from the disease recently. A letter received by Newlin yesterday stated that the deaths number only five and that throughout the entire city there are but 100 cases of typhoid. He said that all possible arrangements have been made to prevent the spread of the disease and that the government experts who were summoned pronounce the condition of the city sanitary and safe.

U. S. TARS HAVE NO TROUBLE
HILLING FAST "AIRSHIPS"

PROVIDENCE, Mass., July 27.—The modern battleship is not likely to have much trouble in disposing of such enemies as come by aeroplane, if the aerial marksmanship of the gunners aboard the battleship New Hampshire is any indication. The tests were made more difficult by being held at night. Huge box kites pulled through the air by a fast torpedo boat were the targets. Under the eye of the warship's searchlights, the flying marks, supposed to be hostile airplanes, were riddled with bullets from the rifles of sharpshooters and an automatic Colt field gun of eight caliber, which pumped 400 steel pellets a minute. The kites were easily hit at 300 and 500 yards.

MENTAL HYGIENE
BY DR. J. E. CANBY
BE NEE

Sore and bleeding gums are the first symptoms of Pyorrhea, the disease that destroys more teeth than all other maladies combined. In the advanced stages the inflammation becomes more intense, the foundation of pus sacs rapidly destroys the tissues surrounding the teeth, the gums recede, the teeth loosen and spread or move from their natural positions. If this condition is allowed to continue it will result in the loss of all the teeth. If you have any of the above symptoms it is a dangerous condition and every day you delay makes the treatment more difficult and expensive. We are making a specialty of the treatment of pyorrhea and can refer you to any number of patients whom we have successfully treated. Call and let us explain our method of treatment to you.

Painless dentistry with us is an established fact, we are demonstrating this every day and are making bridge work, crowns, and filling the most sensitive teeth without pain.

No charge for examination and estimate.

SUGAR ADVANCES TEN CENTS

NEW YORK, July 27.—All grades of refined sugar were advanced 10 cents per 100 pounds today.

PROPOSES EXPENDITURE OF MILLIONS FOR ROADS

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The roads of the country will be benefited to the extent of $200,000,000 during the next five years if the House adopts and the Senate and President then approve a resolution which Representative French of Idaho has introduced. It provides for an expenditure of $20,000,000 by the government each year for five years, the states to add an amount for improving their roads.

The money would be divided among the states according to population, not counting cities with 20,000 or more population.

OKLAHOMA ASSOCIATION AT STRATTON PARK

Pledge Money to Secure Two Railroads and Enjoy Happy Outing at Stratton Park.

Stratton park rang with the shouts of 600 or more happy Oklahomans yesterday afternoon, who assembled at the annual picnic to hear a program of addresses by prominent citizens of their own state, and to hear musical selections sung and played by pretty Oklahoma young women. G. B. Stone, Oklahoma City, former president of the Oklahoma City chamber of commerce, delivered the principal address of the afternoon, making an appeal for subscriptions to the $75,000 fund being raised by residents of Oklahoma City to secure the terminals of the new Missouri, Oklahoma and Gulf railroad and the Fort Smith and Western line was loudly cheered and several large amounts were pledged.

Mr. Stone spoke at length upon his topic and stated that he believes the necessary amount will be raised in time. Inasmuch as a large number of the members of the Oklahoma chamber of commerce were present, the meeting resolved itself into a semi-official meeting of the body. The $75,000 must be turned over to the two roads by next Tuesday.

The program consisted of addresses by Judge C. M. Harrell of Ardmore, J. R. Wallace of Lawton, E. J. Cooper of Osage, E. E. Kirkpatrick of Oklahoma City and Mr. Stone and songs by Miss Clara Gaines of Sapulpa and Miss Kate Tracey of Oklahoma City. Miss Tracey sang "The Oklahoma Girl" and Miss Mildred McNabb gave a piano recital. After the finish of this program the party broke up and repaired to the cañons where fires were built and luncheon enjoyed.

OKLAHOMA ASSOCIATION AT STRATTON PARK

Four tours, carrying through Colorado Springs nearly 300 people will arrive in this city tonight and tomorrow. In each case, the parties will stop off here long enough to take in the scenic resorts and in two instances they wait to attend the opening of carnival week. On the Denver and Rio Grande, the Gillespie-Kinsport party, conducted on a tour of the west, will arrive here from San Francisco. In this group are 112 people, all from the eastern and middle western states. The Chicago North western company, Tour B, will carry 65 men and women on a return trip from the coast. The Marsters National Education association, coming from the recent convention in San Francisco, will bring from 8 to 15 people here for a stay of three days.

Over the Colorado Midland, the Gregory tour, carrying 20, will arrive here today from Salt Lake City to see the points of interest in the Pikes Peak region. This touring system originates in Philadelphia, and the party consists mostly of tourists from the New England states. The Gillespie-Kinsport party, the Denver and Rio Grande, telegraphed yesterday to make special arrangement to see all the scenic resorts here. Their trip includes all the places in Canon City and the more remote spots in Colorado. Whether a majority of these travelers will find it necessary to go on with their trip in scheduled time is not known by the railroad men, but it is understood that some arrangements to allow stopovers here during carnival week will be made.

LACE PEDDLER FINED

H. Hermit, a lace peddler charged with disturbance, was fined $5 and costs in police court yesterday. Hermit called at the home of David Spangler, and although told that his wares were not wanted, he insisted that he be allowed to walk in and show them. He was ordered away and when he refused to leave the house, Mr. Spangler telephoned the police who immediately took him to jail.

COLORADO CITY NEWS NOTES

RUSSIAN SEIZURE OF SHIP CAUSES JAPANESE PROTEST

VICTORIA B. C. July 27.—Advises from the far east report the seizure of the Japanese sealer Kofu Maru by a Russian patrol cruiser off the Kommandorski or Copper Island rockeries. The seizure of the schooner has caused a storm of protest in Japan. Shortly before it took place, Russia gave notice to Japan of an extension of the limits of territorial waters and the Japanese claim that the schooner was on the high seas outside the proper limit when seized.

PROTECTIVE ASSN. WOULD ABOLISH GRADE CROSSINGS

NEW YORK, July 27.—Forty-six men, 13 women and nine children were killed during the last six months by grade crossing accidents in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut according to a report prepared by the National Highway Protective association. The association will begin at once a vigorous campaign for universal abolition of the grade crossing death traps.

HUNTING MALE REINDEER FOR GOVERNMENT'S HERD

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The revenue cutter Bear, cruising in the Bering sea, has been ordered to speed landing parties ashore in Alaska and capture 25 male reindeer. The animals will be taken to St. Lawrence island where the interior department already has a large herd. It is the government's intention to introduce fresh blood into the herds every year if possible.

Golden Cycle Abandons
Its Contemplated Test

Operations to test the value of the Roosevelt deep drainage tunnel to the Golden Cycle mine at Victor will not be made, according to information given out from the office of the company.

It was thought a few weeks ago that plans advanced by the company's engineers, to stop the drainage pumps as soon as to allow the water to seek its natural level in the mine, would be adopted, but upon submitting the plans to the president of the company, John T. Milliken, they were disapproved.

The experiments were to make better arrangements for carrying off the water of the mine, thus saving the company an annual pumping expense of approximately $40,000.

Deaths at Fair

William Varley, a resident of Colorado Springs since 1871, died suddenly Tuesday morning at 329 East Kiowa street, from hemorrhage of the intestines. He was 64 years of age and had lived alone since the death of his wife in Minneapolis about 15 years ago.

Mr. Varley was born in England and so far as can be determined, had no relatives in the United States. For this reason his estate will probably be turned over to the probate court.

The funeral is to be held today at 10 a. m. at Masonic temple, and an emergent communication has been issued by El Paso lodge No. 13, A. F. and A. M., to take charge of the services. Mr. Varley was a member of the Roswell Lee lodge in Springfield, Mass., and was one of the oldest Masons in this city. Interment will be made in Evergreen cemetery, and members of Tejon lodge No. 104 are invited to attend.

DISCREDIT STORY TOLD BY 14-YEAR-OLD GIRL

The pitiful story told by Rose Reidle of being deserted by her employers without pay for services performed as governess in the house of Mr. and Mrs. J. Blum of Manitou, is discredited by Human Officer W. S.
Reynolds, who took charge of the girl.
Investigation, the officer states, goes to show that Rose, who is 14 years old, misrepresented her case, and that her employers did not turn her away, nor did they refuse to pay her.

Bethel Hospital Will Hold Another Tag Day

At the last meeting of the executive committee of the local board of managers of the Bethel hospital it was decided to have a hospital tag day the second week in August. Funds are lacking for a laundry and other necessary equipment, and the members of the board believe that the amount required can be raised easily by another tag day.

A meeting for further discussion of plans will be held next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A., and at the regular monthly meeting to be held Wednesday afternoon at the hospital, final plans will be adopted.

A new method of extracting radium from pitchblende has been adopted at

Young Mothers

No young woman, in the joy of coming motherhood, should neglect to prepare her system for the physical ordeal she is to undergo. The health of both she and her coming child depends largely upon the care she bestows upon herself during the waiting months. Mother's Friend prepares the expectant mother's system for the coming event, and its use makes her comfortable during all the term. It works with and for nature, and by gradually expanding all tissues, muscles and tendons, invigorates, and keeping the breasts in good condition, brings the woman to the crisis in splendid physical condition. The baby too is more apt to be perfect and strong where the mother has thus prepared herself for nature's supreme function. No better advice could be given a young expectant mother than that she use Mother's Friend; it is a medicine that has proven its value in thousands of cases. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores.

NEW YORK, July 27.—Jack Curley, the well-known wrestling impresario, arrived the other day from England on the new ocean queen, Olympic. The most important announcement made by Jack was that George Hackenschmidt is in the best of form, and will leave England for here on the next trip of the Olympic, which sails from Southampton, August 2.

Also he said that Hackenschmidt will immediately prepare for his match with Frank Gotch, the world's champion, which takes place in Chicago Labor day, at the American League park.

When Hack left here he had already signed up for the struggle for the world's title, but Curley took a special trip abroad to make sure that the Russian lion would not default on the match.

The men will wrestle for a guaranteed purse of $32,500, the largest sum ever offered for grapplers in this country, and each man is to receive a share of the pictures privileges.

Hack has been hot on the trail of Gatch ever since the American champion worked his famous toe hold on the Russian lion and forced the latter to quit and relinquish the world's title.

Morgan Angry
Because Champ Doesn't Answer

This startling ~~ukase~~ ~~was~~ announced yesterday by Danny Morgan, who looks out for the interests of the little German boy who has made good with In the past year. To back up his claim Morgan points to the two decisions Brown obtained over Wolgast where they mingled in Philadelphia and also in this city. There was no ruling by Heard's San Francisco Examiner. After Hearst accomplished the defeat of the Britisher he announced that he would not entertain any offer from Brown unless there was a substantial forfeit posted for a side bet. Morgan posted $1,000 over two weeks ago with H. D. Cashman, sporting editor of the American, and the bill still smolders. The peace of this summer was wired to Jones. Wolgast's manager elicited no response.

Wolgast and his mentor in various statements claim that Brown insists upon a 10-round battle, while the champion holds out only for a 20-round go. To combat this Morgan says that the $1,000 forfeit stands for a battle from 16 to 50 rounds. All he wants is for Wolgast to agree to a fight. To make it interesting and profitable Morgan says that he is willing to give Wolgast $1,000 a round if he will come east and fight 10-round battle.

Wolgast has been signaling up with

FRIDAY, JULY 28, 1911.

GIVE THE CLERKS A CHANCE.

The feature of Carnival week probably will arouse the greatest interest is the Aviation meet. A large majority of the people who will be here, both residents and visitors, probably never have seen an airship flight, and even those who have witnessed such exhibitions will gladly avail themselves of another opportunity. The parades, the Wild West show, and the other features of Carnival week will be big attractions, but the Aviation meet is certain to be the one event which nobody will care to miss.

In order to give everybody a chance to enjoy this spectacle it has been suggested that all places of business be closed next Wednesday afternoon. Inquiry among a number of the leading merchants yesterday revealed an entire willingness on their part to take this step, and it is quite probable that all of the business men and employers in the city would agree to close their establishments for a few hours in order that their employees may have the opportunity of witnessing the airship flights.

Carnival week will be the greatest holiday season in Colorado Springs for many years, and it is hardly fair to the clerks and other employees who work indoors that they should be deprived of the opportunity to participate in the festivities, at least for a few hours. The closing of all business houses on Wednesday afternoon would not be a serious interruption of business, for the crowds will be at the Aviation grounds anyway, and whatever patronage is lost to the merchants will be fully made up on other days. Moreover, closing would add considerably to the patronage at the Aviation grounds and thus contribute to the success of the affair.

We hope that this suggestion will lead to a general agreement by the merchants to close their places of business on Wednesday afternoon.

TAFT EXPLAINS.

PRESIDENT TAFT has now explained to the public the circumstances of his opening for settlement a large acreage on the Controller Bay waterfront and his reasons therefor, and it remains for the public to judge and for time to tell whether the President acted, as he says he believed he was doing, in the interest of the nation, or whether, on the other hand, his release of this land simply paved the way for a private monopoly of shipping facilities that will in time be of enormous value.

Most of the discussion of the Controller Bay matter has revolved about points which are of only momentary importance. Whether Richard S. Ryan wrote to Richard Achilles Ballinger, then Secretary of the Interior, the alleged "Dick to Dick" letter, which compromises both the President and his brother, Charles P. Taft, or whether the letter is a "wicked fabrication," as the President brands it, is incidental to the real, vital question the affair brings to the front: Whether Ryan really represented only himself or was the agent of the Morgan-Guggenheim interests, while it has bearing on the probable effects of the President's action, is of secondary importance. Whether the withdrawal was made in accordance with the regular procedure is of only casual interest, except as this and other circumstances surrounding the case may influence the popular attitude toward the President.

The one important issue raised is this: Shall the natural resources in Alaska now owned by the Government be permitted to pass into the hands of private owners or shall the Government retain title to them? It is a question of national policy, and the Controller Bay affair, regardless of how it may finally work out, emphasizes the need of a definite decision at the earliest possible moment. Congress should enact legislation that will stimulate the development of Alaska, and it has the choice of two courses. It can facilitate private acquisition or it can provide for perpetual Government ownership, with such leasing terms that honest capital, not seeking to establish a monopoly, will find inducement to enter the field.

The facts regarding the attempt of monopolists to dominate Alaska which were brought out by the Ballinger investigation indicated the advisability of a most cautious policy on the part of the Government. If necessary, the withdrawal from entry of all important areas until some plan that would thoroughly protect the interests of the people and at the same time not unduly retard the development of the territory could be devised. In spite of this, the President and courageously enough he assumes entire responsibility—signed an order opening to entry some 12,800 acres of land along the Controller Bay waterfront, because he thought Alaska ought to be developed and because he did not think that the man Ryan, who was chiefly interested in the order, represented the big monopoly-seeking interests which have been notoriously active in Alaska.

The President says that the restrictions surrounding these Controller Bay entries are such as to prevent any monopoly of harbor facilities and it is to be hoped that this proves true. But at the same time there was no necessity whatever for the Government to relinquish the ownership of these lands, and however willingly the public accepts the President's explanation of his course it will feel also that in a matter of such great importance he should have played on the safe side, not trusting so implicitly his own judgment.

If the President had thought that Ryan was representing the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate he would never have signed this order. His statement is a negative admission to that effect, but because he did not think so he proceeded to let Ryan or the people he represents get a foothold on territorial lands that will in time, as the Bering river coal fields, of which Controller Bay is the only outlet, are developed, be of enormous strategic importance in controlling the resources of this region.

Former Chief Forester Pinchot declares that this was a bad mistake for which the President is now making a poor excuse, and in any event it is certain that this system or lack of it, offers the people no real protection in Alaska. As long as the Government retains title to its Alaskan resources, however, the would-be monopolists will have their hands tied.

OPEN-PARLIAMENT

THE ABANDONMENT OF THE C. & S. LINE.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
In reference to the proposed abandonment of the Colorado and Southern line between Colorado Springs and Eastonville, on August 1 next, many people are curious to know, "what we are going to do about it." Will the Colorado and Southern railway be allowed to carry out their plan of abandonment, without a fight on the part of the public? Shall we make an exhibition of our inertia by sitting still and doing nothing?

The Chamber of Commerce has taken up this matter, by protesting against said action on the part of the railway company, by sending a committee to interview Vice President Ballinger, and the questions involved. It seems that said committee received no encouragement, and that since then the railway people have announced that the proposed abandonment would begin on August 1, as originally planned.

Now, it occurs to the writer that in addition to the Chamber of Commerce, it is up to the city government of this city, and the county commissioners of this county, to act in connection with each other and with said committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and decide whether or not it is advisable to resist the proposed action on the part of the railway company. These bodies can, and often do, call in legal counsel upon questions which affect the public. This action on the part of the railway company, affects Colorado Springs in a commercial way, which city has granted to said company years ago, valuable terminal facilities, which it accepted and utilized for years. I am informed that said railway company claims that they have turned over said terminal facilities to the Santa Fe railway, as the result of a traffic agreement between the two railway systems.

If this transfer and contract is urged as a release on the part of the Colorado and Southern from their obligations to the city, I wish to refer to a decision of the supreme court of this state, which will be found on page 1 to 16 in volume 6, Colorado reports, the case being entitled: The Pueblo and Arkansas Valley Railroad company vs. Taylor, et al. In this case the court says: "Railroad companies are held to be quasi-public corporations, and agencies, their direct action on the public capacity as agents for the company, and as trustees for the public, clothed with an important public trust. These roads serve a public purpose to such an extent that the public may impose upon itself the burden of taxation to aid in their construction, and the lawful exercise of the right of eminent domain in the taking of private property for the purpose of their construction, is put solely upon the ground of public use. When therefore, the public interests are brought in conflict with the private interests of the company, or of private individuals with whom such companies deal, such private interests must yield to those of the public." The opinion in this case from first to last, places the rights of the public above corporate or private interests, and ought to have application to the one under discussion.

I understand that the railway company gives as a reason for its action, that the line to be abandoned is operated by them at a loss—in short it upon the ground of public use. When therefore, the public interests are brought in conflict with the private interests of the company, or of private individuals with whom such companies deal, such private interests must yield to those of the public." The opinion in this case from first to last, places the rights of the public above corporate or private interests, and ought to have application to the one under discussion.

Orleans railway, and that when they succeeded to the ownership and management thereof they took with all the rights, privileges, duties and obligations of the original company.

That their franchise was and is, a contract to construct, operate and maintain said railroad, and that the public has no right to compel them to cease said operation. Query: Can they exercise that right on their own motion? The state has conferred upon them its right of eminent domain, and in pursuance thereof, they have acquired their right of way through private lands by condemnation proceedings. Can they abandon their contract on their own motion?

In the forty-second federal reporter at page 612 in the case of the People ex. rel. Van Dyke vs. The Colorado Central Railway company, et al., will be found the following:

"As a general rule, a railroad company accepting a charter from the state, under and in pursuance of which it builds its road, may be compelled to operate it after it is built, and will be compelled to do so if it has received state aid, or if the charter in terms imposes this obligation." Does this law as announced by United States Judge Caldwell, have any bearing on the questions in controversy?

The questions involved in this matter are both important and serious to the public. If this action of the railway company is accepted in as a matter of right on their part, would not the Santa Fe and the Denver and Rio Grande, be privileged, if they saw fit, to enter into a traffic agreement with the Colorado and Southern railway and use the old Denver and Pueblo? And by operating their trains over said route, leave Colorado Springs in the cold? Are not their rights co-ordinate with those of the Colorado and Southern railway in such a case?

The question is, what shall we do? Shall we resist, or quietly submit to railroad dictation? Shall we call in legal counsel, and also invoke the aid of the attorney general of the state, or surrender our rights?

Colorado Springs, July 27. EX-MISSOURIAN.

THE SALE OF FIREARMS.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
On Thursday morning's paper I find an account of a boy 9 years of age shooting himself accidentally with a pistol which he found, and for the loading of which he had bought cartridges from a pawnbroker on Huertano street.

Of all the inexcusable dealings that occur in trade, I believe this is the worst. If we are not taking a law at the present time to forbid that anyone sell a cartridge to a child, we ought to get one immediately. If we do not, I would like to hear of its enforcement in this case.

It's hard to take your pen in hand and write a lot of cheer up verse, when heat is smoldering through the land, and every minute growing worse. It's hard to swelter in your den, and write a lot of helpful truck, and hand out good advice to men, when you would like to run amuck. It's hard to be serene and wise, a guide, philosopher and friend, when on your hairless head the flies are holding meetings without end. It's so much easier to nag, to make complaints, and whine and kick, and nag, and nag, and chew the rag, and slug the old world with brick; if optimism merely meant to dance and sing when all is right, it wouldn't, then, be worth a cent; it's when the world is in a plight the optimist should loom up strong, and wear the silver lining grin, and vodel forth a gladsome song until the peepers run him in. And though the flies cause me distress, and though I'm stinging by my grease, I say the world's a big success, and all is happiness and peace.

HARD WORK.
In reference to the proposed abandonment of the Colorado and Southern line between Colorado Springs and Eastonville, on August 1 next, many people are curious to know, "what we are going to do about it." Will the Colorado and Southern railway be allowed to carry out their plan of abandonment, without a fight on the part of the public? Shall we make an exhibition of our inertia by sitting still and doing nothing?

The Chamber of Commerce has taken up this matter, by protesting against said action on the part of the railway company, by sending a committee to interview Vice President Ballinger, and the questions involved. It seems that said committee received no encouragement, and that since then the railway people have announced that the proposed abandonment would begin on August 1, as originally planned.

Now, it occurs to the writer that in addition to the Chamber of Commerce, it is up to the city government of this city, and the county commissioners of this county, to act in connection with each other and with said committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and decide whether or not it is advisable to resist the proposed action on the part of the railway company. These bodies can, and often do, call in legal counsel upon questions which affect the public. This action on the part of the railway company, affects Colorado Springs in a commercial way, which city has granted to said company years ago, valuable terminal facilities, which it accepted and utilized for years. I am informed that said railway company claims that they have turned over said terminal facilities to the Santa Fe railway, as the result of a traffic agreement between the two railway systems.

If this transfer and contract is urged as a release on the part of the Colorado and Southern from their obligations to the city, I wish to refer to a decision of the supreme court of this state, which will be found on page 1 to 16 in volume 6, Colorado reports, the case being entitled: The Pueblo and Arkansas Valley Railroad company vs. Taylor, et al. In this case the court says: "Railroad companies are held to be quasi-public corporations, and agencies, their direct action on the public capacity as agents for the company, and as trustees for the public, clothed with an important public trust. These roads serve a public purpose to such an extent that the public may impose upon itself the burden of taxation to aid in their construction, and the lawful exercise of the right of eminent domain in the taking of private property for the purpose of their construction, is put solely upon the ground of public use. When therefore, the public interests are brought in conflict with the private interests of the company, or of private individuals with whom such companies deal, such private interests must yield to those of the public." The opinion in this case from first to last, places the rights of the public above corporate or private interests, and ought to have application to the one under discussion.

I understand that the railway company gives as a reason for its action, that the line to be abandoned is operated by them at a loss—in short it upon the ground of public use. When therefore, the public interests are brought in conflict with the private interests of the company, or of private individuals with whom such companies deal, such private interests must yield to those of the public." The opinion in this case from first to last, places the rights of the public above corporate or private interests, and ought to have application to the one under discussion.

Three cheers for him and a tiger—those're my sentiments. And may he receive full appreciation from those from whom it is due.

ATWOOD'S MOTHER PROUD
Naturally Gratified at Her Son's Flying Laurels.

From the Washington Herald.
A gentle, white-haired woman of past 60, carrying with her a subdued tone of quiet dignity, subtly intermingled with all the pride of a mother for the wonderful accomplishments of her son—such is the mother of Harry N. Atwood, the young aviator who recently flew into the White House grounds and received the Washington Aero club medal from the hands of President Taft.

At the Willard hotel to a reporter for the Washington Herald Mrs. Atwood, simply and without even a pardonable tinge of arrogance, told how it felt to be the mother of the man who was honored by the President for a flight unprecedented in history.

"In all sincerity," said Mrs. Atwood, "it was the proudest moment of my life. The anxiety I have felt for my son in his many flights was amply repaid today when he sailed into the White House grounds. Since I have been in Washington nothing but kindness and attention has been showered upon me, but the flight this afternoon was the climax. I am glad that the people of Washington are gratified at my son's success."

"I have no idea what I said when Harry landed this afternoon. Probably some one standing near heard me and it has been reported. However, it was only what every mother would say under the circumstances. I feel that I have a slight claim to be proud of my son, as every mother would be under the circumstances. It is all his fame, nevertheless, and no portion do I take unto myself."

"Mr. Atwood's sister has been up with him, also his sister, and perhaps I may go myself at some time, although at present I am undecided," went on Mrs. Atwood. "I wish you could see the piles of letters and telegrams that my son receives every day, offering inducements to him. It is hard to choose from the great number. As for myself, since I have been in Washington I have received flowers and invitations almost more than I can possibly accept. I felt that I had no friends in Washington, when first I came, but in the short time I have been here I feel that I have hundreds."

Simply seems to be the keynote of Mrs. Atwood's every word, love and bearing. There is nothing of the affected, nothing of the over-enthusiastic, only a glowing pride in her son and his achievements. She speaks of him continually as "my son," and has nothing but kindness for everyone.

SO SMOKE WHILE YOU MAY

"In Fifteen Years Puffs in Public Will Be Obsolete."

From the Washington Star.
The tobacco trust, which went down for the count in a recent bar knuckle encounter with the supreme court, is now called upon to step into the ring against the opponent of the most scientific exponents of the many art of doing the other fellow before he does you. Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, head of the bureau of chemistry and famous as the originator of the "poison squad," has joined a crusade against the use of tobacco.

At the cap of the song Doctor Wiley steps nimble to the center of the ring and before his bulky antagonist can get his guard up leads off with this swing to the jaw:

"I predict that within fifteen years smoking and tobacco chewing in public will have become obsolete."

The Ban on Second Hand Smoke.
Escaping a right swing in return by clever footwork the doctor jabbed in with this one:

"A man has a perfect right to drink, chew or dip snuff in his private apartments, but he has not the shadow of a right to inflict unwholesome smoke on the community at large."

As the round closed Doctor Wiley straightened the trust up with this:

"There should be no law, statute or enforced by the authorities prohibiting smoking and chewing in public places or on the cars, where other persons are obliged to be."

Not That It's Harmful.
In brief, Doctor Wiley has joined the Nonsmokers of America, an organization which intends, in all faith, to start a crusade against the "infernal" practice. Doctor Wiley has thrown himself into the fight, and all into the fight, which will be waged to the death against "My Lady Nicotine."

Doctor Wiley admits that a person, even of the gentle sex, may drink a tablespoonful of "mellow fry" or puff a cigar or cigarette of pure ray without harm to the insides, but that is not excuse for the publicity of the fight. In fact, Doctor Wiley stands for a tobaccoless and drinkless nation until eternity.

LOOK FOR WARM WINTERS

A Pamphleteer Sounds a Note of Cheer.

From the New York Sun.
"Why We May Expect Warmer Winters," is the comforting title of a pamphlet published by Maj. R. A. Marriott, "Captain Scott," writes Major Marriott, "on his return from the Antarctic expedition, emphasized the rapidity with which the south polar ice was retreating. It is a well-known fact that in the north regions a similar condition of things is taking place."

"In Canada certain lands bordering on the north have been hitherto reported too icebound for agricultural operations, but large tracts have now been found to present favorable climatic conditions owing to some change that has taken place."

"Iceland now bears its name, for in mid-December, 1910, there was no snow and scarcely any frost."

Major Marriott suggests that the change is due to the diminishing obliquity of the earth's axis.

"The year 2025," A. D., continues Major Marriott, "marks the apex of the genial period, when the contrast between summer and winter will be least. This year is only 145 years ahead of us, and we might reasonably expect each century of approach to show some slight modification of climate."

IN THE EARLY DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

July 28, 1881. July 28, 1891.

A gang of confidence men and sneak thieves were working in the Manitou hotels and the authorities were being urged to bring them to justice.

A large number of people from this city and Manitou went on an excursion to the Grand canon of the Arkansas, which was gotten up by the Methodists.

The recent washouts on the railroads had been repaired and a full eastern mail was received on the afternoon express for the first time in several days.

Colonel and Mrs. George De La Vergne offered their residence for the social given by the Woman's Relief corps, assisted by the G. A. R. and the Sons of Veterans. L. E. Sherman was a member of the reception committee.

The Rev. T. De Witt Talmadge, the celebrated Brooklyn divine, spoke at Green Mountain Falls before a large audience.

History has always attached much importance to the Number Seven. "Of all numbers there is no one which commanded, in a higher degree, the esteem and reverence of mankind." The Gazette has taken this charming number, and has woven into stories on a variety of subjects a Series of Sevens, beginning each Monday and continuing during the week.

NO. 5 BOXING

The Romans, from whom so many of our popular customs and amusements have been derived, enumerated boxing among their athletic sports. Whether the Romans were as expert as the pugilists of the present day, we have no means of ascertaining; but it is certain that the professors of the art were trained with equal regularity, and there can be little doubt of their prowess.

When boxing took a serious turn, it became a contest of much greater danger than the pugilistic battles of our time. The combatants wore gloves loaded with metal, and the issue of the combat was often fatal to one or both of them.

In Dryden's "Virgil" there is the following allusion to this mode of fighting:

"He threw Two ponderous gauntlets down in open view. Gauntlets which Erys went in fight to wield. And sheath his hands within the listed field."

With fear and wonder seized the crowd beholds The gloves of death, with seven distinguished folds. Of tough bull hides; the space within is spread.

With iron, or with heavy loads of lead. Boxing is still, under different forms common to Tuscany; but it is reduced to less perfection. There, if a man in a contest finds himself overmatched, he usually shouts for assistance, and by the aid of the first corner, turns the tables upon his antagonist. The latter again finds his abettors, and the combat thickens, till a whole street is filled with combatants.

At Sienna, Italy, boxing puts on a more scientific form. In that city there are regular academies for pugilistic exercise; a code for the regulation of boxing matches; a certain time for recovery is accorded to the person knocked down, and in short the stifle assumes all the distinguishing features of a courteous combat.

At Vicenza and Florence, people contend, as at Sienna, with the unarmed fist; but at Pisa and Leghorn the clenched cylindrical piece of stick, which projects at each end of the doubled fist, inflicts a cruel wound when it strikes obliquely.

Boxing has of late years become a favorite amusement. In the United States and England, and is even dignified with the name of science by its professors. It was in the early part of the Eighteenth century that Figg opened the best academy in London, known by the name of Figg's Amphitheater, where he taught the use of the small back sword, cudgeling, and pugilism. Figg was succeeded by Thompson, who is generally called the father of the English school of boxing. From that time, to the present day, pugilism has gained ground in both England and America, and scarcely a day passes without recording some set battle, revelling, it would seem, to human nature, and degrading in countries which boast of their civilization and refinement. The advocates of pugilism are not without their reasons.

The Hindus have a very effective way of taking the bitterness out of cucumbers and making them taste sweet and wholesome. A thin slice is cut from the stem end of the cucumber. The cut end is then pricked with a sharp tined fork, and the part that has been cut off is rubbed over the cut end—saw a dozen times or more, until considerable foam is formed. This is claimed, will draw out all bitterness from the vegetable. A thin slice is then cut from the end, thus removing the white, foamy substance, and the rest is found to be perfectly sweet. Saint Nihal.

THIS GIRL FLIRTS WITH DEATH

Young French Woman Heroine of a New and Sensational Thriller.

For utter recklessness in the face of danger and for nerve that passes all understanding, "Forepunch and Sell Brothers" have at last brought forth an act that establishes a new record. When the big circus comes to Colorado Springs on Tuesday, August 8, the morbid minded will be given an opportunity of seeing a young French woman dash down a steep incline in an automobile, the machine and rider leaping high in air and then after accomplishing two complete somersaults in space, landing with terrific impact on a spring platform 50 feet away.

It is the first time in the history of thrillers that a double mid-air somersault has been achieved, though other circus have advertised a one and one-half somersault act as a double revolution. Here for the first time in the original and genuine act which set France wild last year, Description of the act defies the power of English. It is a brief moment of exquisite suspense that pinches the hearts and whitens the faces of spectators. The relief of the audience when the act is accomplished in safety is expressed in shouts of applause and the waving of handkerchiefs.

This circus is now supreme in size and strength. It has gathered together the best talent of the world's arenas, with careful regard for what is sensational and novel. In all the history of the show business not one act has been seen in America that will compare with that of the Ty-Bell Human Butterflies, Captain Webb's riding, juggling and musical scale, the Runyon family of acrobats, the Palara family of Gypsy riders, the Hines-Kimball troupe of acrobats, Professor Taylor's English monkey circus and the Arensen troupe of gymnasts.

The street parade is the most costly pageant ever devised for circus purposes. The equipment was built last winter in the foreign workshops of the show near Liverpool, England, at a cost of $1,000,000. There is not an old feature in it and it is three miles long.

Complete with $2.25 mattress.

Makes an attractive piece of furniture for any room.

Perfectly sanitary, easily cleaned and indestructible.

McKee & Co.

120-122 S. Tejon St.

The menagerie, too, has been reconstructed on original plans. It is an open library of natural history and practically a complete zoological exposition.

The two performances to be given in Colorado Springs will be identical with those presented in all the large cities. New York city indorses this circus. It takes a proprietary interest in it. Its metropolitan home is in the Madison Square Garden and its home offices are located in that city. In fact, it is the pride of the American metropolis. It is there considered the most popular, the biggest and the best circus in the world.

We don't do HURRY UP WORK at cut prices, but we do the highest quality of work at moderate prices. The Acacia Dyers and Cleaners Phone 715, 328 N. Tejon.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY

CANON CITY INVITES C. S. TO VIEW BLOSSOMS, MAY 1

Large Delegation From Here and One From Pueblo Will Make Auto Trip to See DeWeese Hunt Trophies

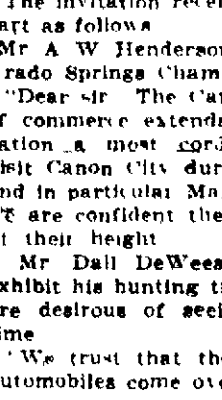

Formal invitation to the local Chamber of Commerce to visit Canon City May 1, to look over the city and view the fruit trees in full blossom, was received yesterday from W. F. Agnew, secretary of the Canon City chamber of commerce (Chicago) 8th Street, who has the local arrangements for the trip in charge, stated yesterday that from the number of inquiries already received it is certain that a large delegation from this city will make the run. The business men of Pueblo are going to Canon City the same day.

The invitation received here reads in part as follows:

"Mr. A. W. Henderson, secretary Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce: 'Dear Sir: The Canon City chamber of commerce extends to your organization a most cordial invitation to visit Canon City during blossom time and in particular May 1, on which day we are confident the blossoms will be at their height.

Mr. Dali DeWeese has offered to exhibit his hunting trophies to all who are desirous of seeing them at this time.

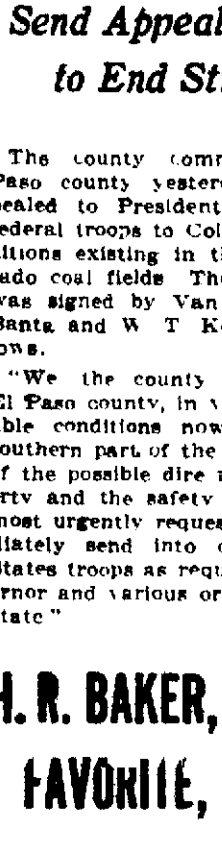

We trust that there will be many automobiles come over at this time.

County Commissioners Send Appeal to Wilson to End Strike Trouble

The county commissioners of El Paso county yesterday morning appealed to President Wilson to send federal troops to Colorado to end conditions existing in the southern Colorado coal fields. The telegram, which was signed by Van E. Rouse, B. A. Banta and W. T. Kennedy, is as follows:

"We the county commissioners of El Paso county, in view of the deplorable conditions now existing in the southern part of the state and in view of the possible dire results to life, liberty and the safety of our people, do most urgently request that you immediately send into our state United States troops as requested by our governor and various organizations of the state."

H. R. BAKER, GATES' FAVORITE, SUCCEUMS

Under the care of specialists he soon regained his health here, and October 12 of the same year married Miss Carlson, his childhood sweetheart, who had remained with him throughout his illness.

He was born in St. Charles January 17, 1891. He received his early education in the St. Charles schools, later going to West Aurora high school. He had planned to enter the University of Illinois, but his illness prevented.

An all-around athlete, Baker took especial interest in football. He was star halfback of the West Aurora high school eleven and for four years was generally accredited to be the best backfield man in his school district. During his last year in school he sustained serious internal injuries in a game which are believed to have been indirectly responsible for his illness.

Came to Colorado Springs.

Shortly afterward he contracted pneumonia while driving a racing automobile from Chicago to his home during a cold trip. His system already weakened by football injuries, he rapidly became worse and physicians ordered him to go to another climate. He at first refused but when his parents and sweetheart declared they would accompany him he came to Colorado Springs.

Illness and finally death prevented Baker from earning a bequest of $250,000 in the will of John W. Gates to be paid upon his graduation from a recognized university.

Young Baker's studies at the St. Charles high school were interrupted in 1909 by a trip abroad with his uncle. When he returned he had missed so much class work because of his travels he refused to return to school.

This was much against the will of John W. Gates. In his will provided in August 1911 the capitalist left his favorite nephew $100,000 with which to complete his education. There was also a bequest of $100,000 conditional upon Baker's graduation from college.

The body will be taken back to St. Charles the family home for interment. Short funeral services probably will be held at the Colorado Springs residence tomorrow afternoon in Rev. W. W. Rimmer of the First Congregational church officiating.

CHICAGO TO HONOR MARINE WHO LOST LIFE

CHICAGO, April 27.—This city will contribute to Samuel McIsaac, a private in the marine corps, who was killed at Vera Cruz, a monument to his memory. GOVT. OWNERSHIP IS ONLY ALTERNATIVE FOR RATE INCREASE?

Louis D. Brandies Defends Present Rates, Economy Needed, He Says

WASHINGTON, April 27.—In argument submitted today to the interstate commerce commission by Louis D. Brandies, counsel for the railroads, the government's proposal for a 10 percent increase in the rate of revenue was defended. Brandies said that the railroads were in a position to pay a 10 percent increase in the rate of revenue, but that the government's proposal was a "red herring" and that the railroads were in a position to pay a 10 percent increase in the rate of revenue.

WAR ACTIVITIES AT GALVESTON CONTINUE

Galveston, Tex., April 27.—The note of peace sounded in the Mexican mediation work today brought no echo here where the task of transferring the freighter San Marcos into an army transport was rushed and the steamer loaded with supplies and men ready to sail tomorrow for Vera Cruz with a troop of the Sixth cavalry and several batteries of the Fifth field artillery.

The army is moving its available field artillery into Vera Cruz to be prepared to meet a possible emergency in the north. Three hundred and forty men and 100 pack animals were loaded on the freighter San Marcos tonight to board the steamer. With the 10 mountain troops that were shipped on the steamer yesterday, the batteries and 200 men, there will be nearly 1,000 men in the field at Vera Cruz within the week.

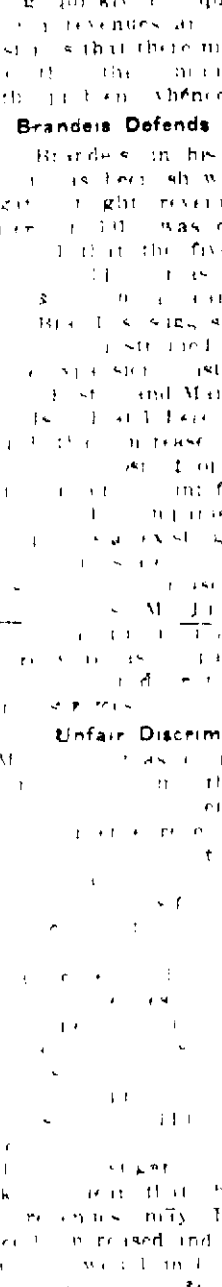

Artillery Given Preference

While Brig. Gen. G. G. Davis, in command of the army here, would not hint of plans for moving troops, it was reported that artillery was being given preference over cavalry in the dispatch of men to Vera Cruz.

There are 30,000 men at Vera Cruz, with additional supplies coming on the San Marcos. Colonel Krantz, chief of the quartermaster's department, said tonight that the army had in addition three months' supply of food and other necessities at Galveston.

Officers of the medical department say that 4,000 soldiers who have come to Vera Cruz are in fine physical condition. They are in the tropics, as all of them have spent a year and a half in the Gulf of Mexico. Last conditions at Galveston.

A detachment of the army signal corps is expected tomorrow from Fort Leavenworth. Several army units are en route from San Diego.

The brightest day of the year is the day you start with SHREDDED WHEAT and Strawberries
